

At Rockford Molded, we can machine almost anything to meet the needs of our customers, and we do it efficiently and well. This helps our customers save money and cut their labor force down instead of having to do it themselves.

Bridgeport Milling, also known as vertical milling, is one of the most widely used machining techniques in manufacturing. We don't just handle large projects, but we also offer to take in smaller contract jobs at low cost to anyone that needs machining done.

As overused as the old saying is, it's true for us... there's really no job too big or small for Rockford Molded. Every customer is important.

Looking to have milling done?
LET US GIVE YOU A QUOTE...

GET A QUOTE

